I express my gratitude to my thesis advisor Dr. Robyn Lynn Johnson and to Elizabeth Salamanca for their support and advice throughout the thesis project.

Much appreciation also goes to Marco Antonio Morales and to Luis Luna Reyes for the help with the methodology part of this study.

Without the collaboration of the individuals responsible for event management operations in the companies and agencies that were contacted, this project would not have been possible. I express my gratitude to those who were willing to invest their time to share their knowledge and experience.

I would also like to thank my sister for her help with the revision of the literature review, and my parents for their support with the determination of the scope of this project.
