than just being incredibly beautiful. Christmas morning, we are both the same person who keeps the plastic bag and follows behind everybody picking up all the wrapping as it-- TAMRON-HALL# You're the cleaner. AL ROKER: Yeah. We're the cleaners. TAMRON-HALL# The cleaners. WILLIE-GEIST# Yeah. AL ROKER: We're the cleaners. NATALIE-MORALES# I do that, too. WILLIE-GEIST# I just got a little bit. NATALIE-MORALES# Yeah. AL ROKER: Yeah. NATALIE-MORALES# I do a lot of that. AL ROKER: I mean it's just-- yeah. NATALIE-MORALES# I in like okay, paper, right away, bow, right away. AL ROKER: Yeah. NATALIE-MORALES# Yeah. WILLIE-GEIST# Well, it's good to have everybody back at the table. We start with an absolutely incredible story for you. AL ROKER: Yeah. WILLIE-GEIST# Maybe you've heard about it by now. NATALIE-MORALES# Yeah. WILLIE-GEIST# A seven-year-old little girl survived a terrible plane crash in Kentucky that killed the rest of her family, her name is Sailor Gutzler. She's now recovering with her
