

Dedications

First and foremost I wish to thank and dedicate this work to my father, Jeff Johnson. I thank you for your un-ending support not only in this investigation but throughout all of my studies at the BA and MA level. You have been my strength, hope and support and without it I would not be here writing this today.

I would secondly like to dedicate this work to my mother, Julie Johnson. I feel your presence everyday which has in turn given me the strength and hope to move forward with every step of my life. You are my inspiration and I dedicate this work to you and your memory. I love you.

This investigation would also not have been made possible if it were not for my MA colleagues and friends, Mary Carmen Leonar, Leticia Temoltzin and Alma Lilia Xochitiotzi Zárate for having dedicated their time and energy to helping me codify the data. I extend my gratitude not only for your aide in this research but throughout the two years we have studied together in the MA program.

I would also like to thank Liz Avanzato for always having been a good friend and academic colleague. Thank you for your advice and constructive criticism in every research project that I carried out during the MA program.

I express my deepest thanks to my thesis director, Dr. Connie Johnson, for providing her time, dedication, guidance and patience through this important moment of my academic career. I also extend my gratitude to Dr. Brita Banitz and Dr. Lydia Giles for providing their constructive criticism and comments. They have helped me to create and mold my thesis into a finished produced that I can be proud of.

Finally I would like to thank everyone in the Applied Linguistics department for enriching my academic career and providing me with a new outlook on the world and language. This has been a wonderful two years that has helped and challenged me to be better researcher.
